“... the phrase “townsizing,” which reflects the “downsizing” of the destination, focusing on the simple pleasures in smaller places. We’ve dedicated our cover story to this very concept...”

STAYCATION 2026

Publisher's Letter

If you've been reading Travel Indiana magazine anytime over the last 15 years, you've most likely picked up on the fact that we love to write about the joys of visiting Indiana's smaller, more rural towns. The tourism industry has recently coined the phrase “townsizing,” which reflects the “downsizing” of the destination, focusing on the simple pleasures in smaller places. We've dedicated our cover story to this very concept, and while we could've filled this entire issue with “townsizing” travel ideas, I think we successfully pulled it off in 18 pages.

You don't have to be a history buff to enjoy our Nostalgic Road Trips story. Here we highlight destinations that are steeped in history. Of course, you'll read about museums and historic buildings, but you'll also find fun road trip spots like old diners, candy shops, antique stores, and theatres.

With Valentines Day just around the corner, we've rounded up some great getaway ideas for couples. We've obviously included special overnight spots, but you'll also read about fun activities you can do together. But the best part about this article is that the places and events mentioned will inspire romantic journeys you can take all year long.

Because this issue is the first for the new year, we've continued our tradition of publishing our “Staycation Guide” pages which provide detailed itineraries for areas all over Indiana. These “at a glance” pages will inspire you to plan your 2026 travel schedule right here in Indiana.

And be sure and check out all of our regular sections for more trip ideas: Destination, Outdoor, Culinary, and Arts. Also, log onto travelindiana.com for up-to-date events, attractions, and much more.

Happy and safe travels!

WHERE IS IT?

As you read about the great destinations in this issue of TraveliN magazine, you may be wondering where all these attractions are located, and how close they are to each other.

Use this handy reference map as you plan your excursion or staycation. A quick glance will help you decide which part of the state you want to explore at a time.

The numbers on the map correspond to the county or city that is mentioned in the story, and the dots under the numbers indicate how many attractions are described in the story at that location.

TOWNSIZI

While we love our big cities, “townsizing” is a term that was coined to reflect the “downsizing” of the destination, focusing on simple pleasures like leisurely walks and visiting local shops, rather than adhering to a packed, high-pressure itinerary.

All too often we speed down the interstate in our rush to visit large cities, flying right past off-ramps that lead to hidden treasures. Next time, consider a different kind of excursion. Immerse yourself in the pleasures of small and more rural destinations to experience each area’s local culture.

Take Battle Ground, for example, in Tippecanoe County and home to the Tippecanoe Battlefield Park, a National Historic Landmark located within a 96-acre park setting where the 1811 battle between U.S. forces and Native Americans took place. You'll also discover picnic areas, a nature center, chapel, and scenic hiking trails.

At nearby Prophetstown State Park you can hike, picnic, and learn about the area by way of historical exhibits. Also in Battle Ground is the 78-acre Wolf Park where visitors can see resident wolves, foxes, bison, and a Turtle Garden, then can return at night to howl with the pack. The Shoup House, built in 1860, houses Shoup House Antiques and Interiors. Browse through their collection of furniture, collectibles, and accessories.

Farther south is Parke County, known as the Covered Bridge Capital of the World. The area is dotted with quaint small towns like Rockville, the county seat; Bridgeton, home of the iconic Bridgeton Mill and Covered Bridge; and Montezuma, featuring the historic B&O Railroad Bridge over the Wabash River. Start your day with a hike at Turkey Run State Park among its sandstone ravines, scenic overlooks, and forested trails. Cool off with a dip at Raccoon Lake, then visit some of the area's antique shops, among them Aunt Patty's, Vintage Relics Antiques, and Antiques on York.

Washington and Montgomery, both in Daviess County, are where you'll find examples of Amish furniture, handiwork, and food. A sumptuous buffet that includes their signature fried chicken, noodles, and pies can be found at the Gasthof Amish Village with more at Dutchman's Diner and at the Homestead Restaurant and Bakery. For coffee and a sweet, the Cherry Ghost Coffee Shop is also worthy of a stop.

The Historical Society maintains and curates an extraordinary collection of artifacts at the Daviess County Museum into engaging displays that explain the local agriculture, politics, clothing, and lifestyle. One of these is a completely re-created one-room schoolhouse.

Shopping here yields unusual items you probably won't find anywhere else. Best bets are A Wonderful Life, the Chandelier Barn Market, Top-Notch Boutique, Wittmer Furniture and Gift Shop, and Arts Unleashed Presents: The Gallery.

Small-town shopping gives visitors the chance to support local businesses while discovering unique finds. In Tell City in southwest Indiana, you can browse at Antiques & More, Tell City Pickers, and Celebrations on Main. Then grab a bite and something to drink at Pour Haus. Outdoor fun here includes Buzzard Roost and Saddle Lake trails inside the scenic Hoosier National Forest. For a secluded accommodation, select a cabin at Tipsaw Lake or Patoka Lake.

Bloomington, set in the picturesque rolling hills of south-central Indiana, is one of the most multicultural places in the state, thanks to its being the home of Indiana University. On campus you'll find the impressive collections at the Eskenazi Museum of Art. Across the street is the Lilly Library, with some of its rare books and papers always on display.

The Tibetan Mongolian Buddhist Cultural Center, located on the grounds of a monastery, is dedicated to fostering and preserving the Tibetan and Mongolian cultures. Share in their rituals and spend a night in one of their yurts.

Not too far from campus, you can taste the wines at either the Oliver Winery, Indiana's largest and one of the largest in the country; or the Butler Winery, one of the oldest in Indiana. Then follow that with dinner on "international row," a series of authentic restaurants from around the world on Fourth Street.

Brown County's Nashville is the art colony first made famous by artist T.C. Steele. Visit his home and studio as well as the Brown County Art Gallery and the Brown County Art Guild to view and maybe purchase local and Midwestern pieces.

Enjoy a live show at the Brown County Playhouse — perhaps with some warm roasted nuts from the nearby Jack and Jill Nut Shop. Save time for browsing in the boutiques and bookstores within walking distance. When you leave Nashville, take the winding road to Story and you'll find a historic village that has been transformed into the Story Inn, an unique inn, restaurant, and tavern.

The colorful murals adorning many buildings might be the first thing you notice in Greensburg, but there's much more to see and do. The award-winning Building Bridges Inclusion Park, is a safe, accessible playground with colorful equipment for children of all abilities. Local shopping here includes Dog-Eared Pages, a woman-owned bookstore, where you are invited to "get your paws on a good book."

Oldenburg in Franklin County, known as the "Village of Spires" for its many churches, was founded in 1837 by German immigrants. This would explain why the street signs are in two languages, the architecture is European, and the menus in many of the restaurants include German cuisine. One of those restaurants, the James Beard Award-winning Wagner's Village Inn, claims to have the best fried chicken in the Midwest. Other spots for a tasty meal are the Pearl Street Pub, Sister Haus, and Brau Haus. Carriage House Antiques also sells ice cream made by Sister Cleo, one of the residents of the Sisters of St. Francis Convent. (At the convent itself you can book a tour for a peek at how religious orders live and do their work.)

Just across the street, a charming array of boutiques and gift shops awaits, including A Beautiful World, known for its elegant home décor; Schwesern Art Gallery; and The Golden Turtle Trading Company, where shoppers can find authentic dirndls and lederhosen ideal for celebrating Oldenburg's beloved annual Freudenfest.

Leavenworth is a historic river port and serves as the gateway to attractions like Wyandotte Caves, Marengo Cave, and Harrison-Crawford State Forest. The Overlook Restaurant, perched high above the Ohio River, is a perfect spot to enjoy breathtaking views. Take a step back in time at Stephenson's General Store, an old-fashioned general store selling ice cream, candy, sandwiches, and household items.

Over in Shelbyville is the Blue River Trail, with 4.5 miles of paved trails that run through downtown and along the Big Blue and Little Blue rivers and another 16 miles surrounding the area. Also here is Meltzer Woods, the oldest standing natural forest in the state.

Shopping in Shelbyville is highlighted by the 7,000-foot Me and My Sisters Flea Market, open seven days a week, with 75 vendors offering items that range from antiques, furniture, and clothing to home décor items, vinyl records, and goat's milk soaps. Get an early start at Just Peachy, which features homemade cinnamon rolls and peach smoothies for breakfast and healthy and delicious sandwiches, soups, and salads for lunch.

The place to book for a special dinner in Greenfield is Carnegie's — a former Carnegie library. Griggsby's Station also gets high marks. Don't miss the James Whitcomb Riley Boyhood Home and Museum, or plan a picnic in Riley Park, 40 creek-side acres that include a playground, paved walking areas, aquatic center, and museums.

Nearby Fortville surprises with an unexpected dining scene, including the Taxman Brewing Co., which has been noted as one of the best breweries in the state.

Wayne County has more than its share of charming small places. Cambridge City is the hub of Indiana's Antique Alley, with ten antique shops and malls within a four-block area of restored historic buildings. Relax in the tasting room at the Pilgrimage Winery and Vineyard and then dine on giant tenderloins at Lumpy's, steaks at No. 9 Grill or comfort food with a view at Lakeview Restaurant. Spending the night? Bed down at The Lofts on Main Street or Monet on Main Airbnb in a restored 1888 bank building in the heart of Cambridge City.

Centerville invites you to shop at the Warm Glow Candle Co., Centerville Antique Mall and Wheeler's Antiques. In nearby Hagerstown watch as hand-crafted chocolates and caramels are made the old-fashioned way at Abbott's Candies, Indiana's oldest candy factory.

Then it's on to Pendleton in Madison County where you can park your car once and walk to several shops like B'Dazzled Boutique, The Rusty Hinge Boutique, and Burmeister's Olde Towne Antiques. Walkable dining options include Falls Perk and Sophie's Bagels, Catello's Italian Art Cuisine, and more. Falls Park has a variety of amenities, and the town puts on some great festivals throughout the year.

Muncie fun begins on the campus of Ball State University at the David Owsley Museum of Art with its

Where Quiet is the Destination

Slip away to a place where scenic hills, river views, and small-town charm invite you to slow your pace. Whether it's Spring Break, a romantic retreat, or a laid-back weekend with friends, cozy cabins and welcoming rooms set the scene for true relaxation.

Hike forested trails, paddle along the Ohio, or bike quiet byways. Then stroll through local shops, uncover rich history, and explore charming communities. End it all with a craft beer or a glass of German-inspired wine – riverfront views included.

Come unwind with us.

excellent collection for a town of this size. Also here are the Minnetrista Museum and Gardens that tell the story of the family who created Ball Mason canning jars. On the grounds are the family's opulent homes, one of which offers the Bob Ross Experience since this is where the artist often worked and taped his TV shows.

Internationally-known as the hometown of James Dean, Fairmount in Grant County treats visitors to the James Dean Museum, along with the James Dean Gallery, both of which give you insights into the star's small-town roots. While there, be sure and enjoy a meal at Grains & Grill, or Bad Dad Brewing Company.

Two small towns in Adams County are worth your while to visit. Berne, known as the furniture capital of Indiana, was settled by Swiss immigrants and Mennonites in the 1800s and grew when the railroad came through town. Today you can experience that legacy with visits to the Swiss Heritage Village and Museum as well as the Muensterberg Plaza and Clock. Nearby Decatur offers the Adams County Historical Museum with knowledgeable docents to give you a tour, as well as the Charles Dugan Mansion. Or get outside and take a walk or bike ride on the town's many trails and greenways. Shoppers won't want to miss Yvonne Marie's Antique Mall.

TOWN OF CULVER & LAKE MAXINKUCKEE

Culver and Lake Maxinkuckee have been drawing visitors since the late 1800's with the arrival of the railroad. Lake Max, as it's often called, is the second largest natural inland lake in Indiana and spans over 1,800 acres. Combining the friendly charm of a small midwestern town, the beauty and aura of a lake resort community, and the diversity and sophistication of a collegial community, it's easy to see why Culver has been called "The Cape Cod of the Midwest." The area offers a variety of overnight lodging, including resort accommodations, condos, B&B's, and other properties for rent. Unique shopping, dining, and special events can be enjoyed year-round. Whatever it is that brings you to Culver, you're going to love our little town and Lake Maxinkuckee. We can't wait for you to #findculver!

ENJOY WHITE COUNTY

enjoywc.com

Tucked in the heart of north-central Indiana, White County offers a vibrant blend of small-town charm, natural beauty, and year-round adventure. While its sparkling lakes, Shafer and Freeman, often steal the spotlight in summer, locals know the magic doesn't disappear when the seasons change. Lake life here is more than boating and sunbathing; it's sunrise fishing, lakeside barbecues, cozy waterfront dining, and a community that knows how to embrace the outdoors all year long.

Across White County, award-winning and nationally recognized restaurants deliver memorable culinary experiences, from elevated comfort food to chef-crafted specialties that keep visitors returning season after season. Its towns are dotted with one-of-a-kind shops offering handmade goods, antiques, boutique fashion, and unique finds that reflect the area's creative spirit.

And of course, this year brings something extra special: Indiana Beach celebrates its 100th anniversary of lakeside thrills, iconic rides, and nostalgic fun that has helped shape White County's story. Along with historic sites and festive events throughout the year, it's the perfect time to rediscover a destination where every season offers new ways to unwind, explore, and make lasting memories along the water's edge.

TOWN-SIZED LUXURY: The Story of FRENCH LICK, WEST BADEN and the hidden treasures of Orange County

Some places don't need sky-high buildings or flashing billboards to stand out. Surrounded by the scenic hills of Orange County, small towns like French Lick, West Baden, Paoli, and Orleans are proving that less really is more. They offer everything a traveler could want, historic charm, luxury lodging, outdoor adventure, family attractions, and a deep sense of character all within minutes of each other.

It starts with the crown jewels: French Lick Springs Hotel and West Baden Springs Hotel. These two historic resorts set the tone for a visit that's both elevated and easygoing. French Lick Springs Hotel is the anchor. Bright yellow and full of history, it offers full-service everything, fine dining, a luxury spa, boutique shopping, a casino, and a bowling alley. It's central, walkable, and seamlessly connects to the town's attractions. Step outside and you're already part of the action.

Just up the road, West Baden Springs Hotel is a jaw-dropping experience. Known for its massive domed atrium, often called the "Eighth Wonder of the World," this hotel delivers high-end lodging and peaceful luxury in a way that feels like stepping back in time. It's ideal for couples and anyone seeking a slower pace without giving up comfort or quality.

Families and animal lovers head straight to Wilster Wildlife Park. Here, you can feed a giraffe, meet kangaroos, and even get close to elephants. Kids love hands-on animal encounters. Adults appreciate the scenic setting, peaceful cabins, and bonus adventure options like ziplining and ATV rides. It's a laid-back wildlife experience that still feels exciting.

When the weather cools or a rainy-day hits, Big Splash Adventure Indoor Water Park keeps things fun. Slides, splash zones, and a lazy river make it a year-round hit. And since it's right in town, it's easy to add a water day to any trip.

For outdoor winter fun, Paoli Peaks is the go-to spot. Located just minutes away, this ski resort offers slopes for all skill levels. Snowboarding, tubing, rentals, and lessons are all available. It's accessible, manageable, and perfect for families or beginners. Not visiting in winter? Paoli still delivers. Explore the trails of the Hoosier National Forest, a vast outdoor playground for hiking, fishing, and exploring natural beauty.

Need a break from the trails? Paoli Rock n Bowl combines classic fun, bowling, and roller skating in a retro atmosphere, and Green Acres Restaurant & Golf Course offers casual golf with local food favorites, all in a relaxed setting.

While Paoli brings the adventure, Orleans delivers old-fashioned charm. Just a short drive from French Lick, this quiet town feels like a scene from a storybook. Start in Congress Square, a lovely town center surrounded by local shops and restaurants. The historic bandstand, often filled with live music and community events, anchors the square. Nearby, the Stetson House, owned by a member of the famed hat-making family, offers a look at local history. The Historic Orleans Cemetery adds another layer of storytelling to this town that wears its heritage with pride.

Back in French Lick, those looking for something more refined can unwind at French Lick Winery, which features tastings and a relaxed, inviting vibe. Take a drive out to Patoka Lake Winery and enjoy scenic views, delicious wine, and even cabin accommodations. These aren't just stops for a quick drink, they're places to slow down, sip, and stay for a while.

Love a quiet walk? You'll find scenic trails around Patoka Lake that offer forested paths, lake views, and plenty of wildlife. The resort grounds in French Lick also feature manicured walkways and gardens, ideal for a morning stroll or evening wind-down.

Golfers looking for a challenge can't miss the Pete Dye Course at French Lick. Built on Indiana's second-highest elevation, this professional-level course is as beautiful as it is demanding. With panoramic views and bold design, it's a bucket-list experience for anyone serious about the game.

As the holidays approach, the whole region lights up, literally and figuratively. The Polar Express™ Train Ride, departing from the French Lick Scenic Railway, brings the classic children's story to life. Riders wear pajamas, sip hot chocolate, and meet characters on their way to the "North Pole." It's a magical, limited-time experience that books up fast and leaves a lasting impression on families.

To tie it all together, hop aboard the Historic Trolley Ride. This free ride connects French Lick and West Baden hotels, shops, and attractions. It's both a practical way to get around and a fun way to see the area without having to drive.

These small towns deliver more value, scenery, and variety than most cities, without the noise, traffic, or stress. In one trip, you can stay in historic hotels, feed exotic animals, sip wine with a view, hit the slopes, and explore rich local history, all within minutes of each other. That's the power of town-sizing: everything close, real, and easy to enjoy. For a weekend trip, family getaway, or seasonal adventure, French Lick, West Baden, Paoli, and Orleans offer big experiences without the big-city hassle.

STARS AND STRIPES IN TERREDISE

People all over the country are celebrating the 250th birthday of the United States this year, and those of us lucky enough to live in or visit Indiana have an opportunity to do it up in a special way. Terre Haute, the “Crossroads of America” at the intersection of U.S. Highway 40 and U.S. Highway 41, invites us to join them for “Stars and Stripes in Terredise.”

Karen Dyer, executive director of the Terre Haute Convention and Visitors Bureau, suggests one way to mark the occasion might be taking a road trip and stopping by. “Americans love road trips,” she said. “They love the freedom of getting into their cars and stopping whenever they want at roadside attractions.” “It’s part of the American experience.”

Terre Haute offers so many attractions for travelers, it’s hard to know where to begin, but exploring the city’s more than 50 public art pieces is a perfect place to start. At the Vigo County Courthouse, the Turn to the River sculpture elegantly traces the flow of the Wabash River in sleek black granite, grounding Terre Haute in natural beauty and rich history. Just blocks away, the Terre Haute Postcard Mural offers a tribute to the city’s vibrant past. Together, these inspiring works of public art invite visitors to experience Terre Haute’s creative spirit and the powerful stories that shape its soul.

Stiffy Green, a bulldog said to have guarded his master’s mausoleum until his own death, turns up in several murals, such as one at Charlie’s Neighborhood Pub and Grub. Visit the Highland Lawn Cemetery, on the National Register of Historical Places, to see where the pet maintained his vigil, or photograph the actual stuffed dog at the Vigo County History Center.

The Terre Haute Brewing Company, the original home of the legendary Champagne Velvet beer, crafts the bold Stiffy Green IPA and serves other local brews by the glass. Afterward, go next door to M. Moggers Restaurant and Pub to explore the hidden web of underground tunnels that once earned Terre Haute its “Sin City” nickname during Prohibition. Cap off your visit with a perfectly grilled steak at The Stables Steakhouse, now housed in the historic building where the brewery once kept its horses.

Enjoy the locally famous Stiffy Green Pickles at The Copper Bar, where history lives on behind the original mahogany bar from the iconic Terre Haute House Hotel. While you're there, check out John Dillinger's favorite corner seat, chosen for its perfect escape view. Legend has it Al Capone was a regular, too.

On the wall outside the building where the Copper Bar is located is a 33-foot-tall mural featuring the 1979 cover of Sports Illustrated with Larry Bird on the cover in his ISU No. 33 jersey. Bird rose to fame as a college basketball star here in the 1970s before he went on to become a professional player and coach. The Larry Bird Museum (1 of 12 in the city) is next door, and a 15-foot-tall Larry "the Legend" Bird sculpture greets visitors at the Hulman Center, where he once played and his number has now been retired.

Terre Haute is home to the original Coke bottle, designed to resemble a cocoa pod with an elongated shape and distinctive ribs. Before the Root Glass Company won the design competition, the beverage was bottled at several locations in whatever bottles that company had on hand. Coca-Cola was in competition with several other colas, and they wanted distinctive packaging to make them stand out as the cola of choice. The original bottle is also on display at the Vigo County History Center, where a building-size Coke mural adorns the outside of the building. Next door is the iconic Square Donuts, another city legend.

Experience a great photo op at the 44-foot-long Clabber Girl billboard along U.S. Highway 40 near Rose Hulman Institute of Technology, which marks the history of Terre Haute as the home of the famous baking powder. Believed to be the oldest billboard in existence in Indiana, its large clock makes it one of the first electric billboards in the country.

A print of Andy Warhol's Marilyn Monroe resides at the Swope Art Museum, known as "The Midwest's best American Art Museum," alongside works by Edward Hopper and Grant Wood. The Indiana Theater, built in the 1920s and on the National Register of Historic Places, is currently closed for renovation, but it is worth a drive past to appreciate its architectural features.

Songwriter Paul Dresser, who composed Indiana's famous "On the Banks of the Wabash" state song, was a Terre Haute native. He is commemorated by a sculpture titled "A Song for Indiana" next to his family home and near the Wabash River at Fairbanks Park.

The famous Shell Chapel on the campus of Saint Mary of the Woods was built in the 1800s by the Sisters of Providence and is one of the oldest buildings in central Indiana. Lined with extinct mussel shells from the Wabash River, it honors Indiana's only saint, Saint Mother Theodore Guerin.

Wabashiki Wetlands is a place to spend time outside in nature, with its viewing overlook and walking trails just on the west side of the Wabash River. Stop here to see eagles nesting and other wildlife.

Outside of town on U.S. 40 at the Indiana-Illinois state line is the Clear Creek Welcome Center. The Indiana Department of Transportation spent $54 million on this jewel of a rest stop, which was designed on an Indy 500 theme. Inside, discover a real race car and a towering 30-foot replica of the iconic Borg-Warner Trophy. Outside, unwind with a playground and scenic walking trails. Former Terre Haute icon Tony Hulman bought and restored the Indianapolis Motor Speedway after World War II, essentially saving it for generations of Indiana race fans to come.

GIRLFRIEND'S GETAWAY

Culver provides the perfect backdrop and home base for a fun-filled girlfriend's getaway! For day one, after a filling breakfast at Café Max, plan to spend the entire day shopping downtown. Culver's colorful downtown has a plethora of unique and locally owned businesses. There are endless options to find one-of-a-kind clothing, handmade goods, art, books and unexpected finds. Enjoy lunch at one of several local restaurants, such as Frida's for Mexican cuisine and margaritas, or for classic American food during the summer – Lake Max Beach Bar and The Original Rootbeer Stand. Culver hosts two annual shopping and dining events, Cupid's Crawl during Winterfest (February) and Holiday Hop (December), with special deals and retail items. Say CHEERS as you indulge in delicious cocktails from Lucrezia for dinner and a night out!

Day two starts out with a coffee or tea from the Good News coffee truck. Don't forget to bring your bike. Walk or bike the National Register of Historic Places, the trail in Culver Park and along Main Street. For the more ambitious bikers, be sure to check out the Culver maps section on the Visitor Center website, for the 12-mile route around Lake Maxinkuckee. Plan ahead by bringing portable hammocks to the Culver and Union Township Park and enjoy the afternoon relaxing and catching the breeze off the lake.

FAMILY FUN GETAWAY

Start your visit with a morning walking tour of Culver Academies. Afterward, stroll over to The Lakehouse Grille for patio dining and more views of Lake Maxinkuckee.

On day two, spark some creativity with the kids and book an appointment at Art Awakened by Suzi Q. Suzi has an extensive selection of color palettes and staff who can help the most novice artist. In a short span of time and at a very affordable cost, you can create a unique and worthy piece of art which is appealing for all ages – adults included! Bourbon Street Pizza is the perfect dining location for the kids for lunch or dinner.

Day three starts with breakfast and coffee at The Culver Coffee Company, the town's upscale and locally-owned cafe. Next, head over to Culver Beach and rent a kayak or standup paddle board and spend the afternoon out on the lake. You can enjoy the beach at Culver Park for an affordable daily admission. Swim, paddle, and take in the views. Once you finish, head over to Papa's for an evening meal.

Consider renting a pontoon boat at the Culver Marina. You can't go wrong on the lake! During winter months, plan your adventure during Winterfest, an entire weekend of winter fun with sledding, ice sculpting, a beer garden, polar plunge and much more!

Winter Wonders at Fair Oaks Farms

When winter's chill sets in and cabin fever starts to take hold, there's no need to venture far for a memorable getaway. Fair Oaks Farms, nestled in the rolling prairie landscape of Northwest Indiana, offers an unexpected winter sanctuary where agricultural adventure meets cozy comfort.

A Warm Welcome at the Onsite Hotel

Your winter escape begins at the Fairfield by Marriott at Fair Oaks Farms, where families are greeted with an indoor heated pool—a perfect cold-weather retreat. While snow drifts outside, it's all splashes and smiles inside. The hotel offers special winter packages that bundle accommodations with farm tours and dining experiences, making it easy to plan every part of your stay.

Dining in Your Own Winter Wonderland

Through mid-February, The Farmhouse Restaurant's private dining igloos offer an experience unlike anything else in Indiana. Heated and intimate, these transparent domes provide a magical setting for farm-fresh cuisine, with the full Farmhouse menu available and crafted from the highest-quality ingredients in the region. Whether you're planning a romantic date night, a festive gathering, or a memorable family meal, the igloos deliver winter dining at its most enchanting.

Behind the Scenes of Modern Farming

Thanks to climate-controlled facilities, Fair Oaks Farms' agricultural adventures run year-round. The Dairy Adventure, Pork Adventure, and Crop Adventure highlight the fascinating intersection of technology and tradition through robotic milking systems, sustainability initiatives, and hands-on exhibits. The Birthing Barn remains a guest favorite, offering the chance to witness calves being born multiple times per day—even in the depths of winter.

A Taste of Fresh Farming

No winter visit is complete without a stop at The Red Barn Milk Bar and Dairycatessen. Enjoy rich, creamy ice cream made from the very milk produced at the toured farms and sample artisan cheeses crafted with the same dedication to quality. Take home farm-fresh products and specialty gifts as delicious reminders of your stay.

Indoor Thrills

For families seeking adventure without the frostbite, the indoor ropes course brings the excitement. Navigate suspended obstacles and challenging elements high above the ground, while a lower-level course offers safe, age-appropriate fun for even the youngest walkers.

Looking Ahead

Winter at Fair Oaks Farms has a charm all its own, but a visit this season is just the beginning. As temperatures rise, Mooville—the outdoor play area—opens for the season, expanding the family-friendly fun. Summer and fall bring U-Pick experiences in the orchard, outdoor activities, and the full scope of seasonal farm offerings. Visiting in winter gives guests the perfect preview to plan their return for warm-weather adventures.

Planning Your Visit

Fair Oaks Farms is conveniently located just an hour and a half northwest of Indianapolis. Winter visits offer smaller crowds and a relaxed pace, giving families ample time to enjoy the educational and interactive experiences. Operating year-round, the farm provides an authentic glimpse into modern American agriculture, no matter the season.

FOR MORE INFORMATION AND RESERVATIONS, VISIT JOURNEYMAN.COM LOCATED APPROXIMATELY 45 MILES SOUTHEAST OF CHICAGO

Journeyman Distillery at the American Factory in downtown Valparaiso is more than a landmark—it's a destination woven from history, hospitality, and modern craft. Set at the newly christened corners of Distillery St. and Brewery St., the former mid-1800s textile mill and later ANCO wiper blade factory has been thoughtfully restored, earning its place on the National Register of Historic Places. What stands today is a vibrant gathering place where the past and present meet in every pour, plate, and experience.

DINING AT UNION HALL

At the heart of the campus is Union Hall Restaurant, home to Journeyman's signature "Whiskey Garden" and a menu inspired by elevated American comfort food. Guests can indulge in craft cocktails made exclusively with Journeyman's organic spirits—led, of course, by the celebrated Old Fashioned and award-winning Corsets, Whips & Whiskey, named Whiskey of the Year in both 2022 and 2023. Other local favorites, like Pit-Spitter Cherry Whiskey, Last Feather Rye, and playful Popcorn Bourbon, round out the bar's spirited lineup.

Lunch and dinner are served daily, with a weekend brunch that leans delightfully into both savory standouts and sweet indulgences. And right on site, Journeyman's craft brewery, Sea of Monsters, adding another layer to the experience—releasing bold, narrative-driven house beers, available on tap or to-go.

EVENTS

The American Factory offers an expansive collection of event spaces that set the stage for unforgettable gatherings. The East and West Rooms provide flexible, beautifully restored venues ideal for weddings, corporate events, and milestone celebrations of all kinds. Beyond private bookings, the entire campus comes alive throughout the year with Journeyman-hosted experiences—courtyard concerts in the summer, seasonal festivals, bustling Artisan Markets, and more. Guests can explore an ever-evolving lineup of happenings on the Journeyman events calendar.

FAMILY FUN

A visit to Journeyman isn't complete without a stop at the Spirit Shop, where shelves are lined with award-winning spirits, specialty barware, apparel, and thoughtfully curated local gifts. Families can explore the campus at their own pace—enjoying the expansive outdoor spaces in the warmer months, admiring the craftsmanship woven throughout the property, and taking in an atmosphere that's both welcoming and inspiring. Whether you're a longtime local or a first-time guest, the American Factory offers a memorable blend of history, creativity, and unmistakable Midwest charm.

Come for the food, stay for the stories, and leave with memories—perhaps even a bottle of Popcorn Bourbon to enjoy long after your visit.

DISCOVER THE FOUR SEASONS OF WHITE COUNTY, INDIANA

Nestled in the heart of Indiana, White County offers something for every traveler year-round. From outdoor adventures and family-friendly festivals to cozy shops and scenic escapes, the county's landscapes and local culture promise unforgettable experiences in every season.

SPRING: EMBRACE NATURE'S REBIRTH

As snow melts and flowers bloom, spring is the perfect time to explore White County's parks and trails. Altherr Nature Park in Monticello is an 80-acre haven with serene hiking paths, wetlands, and wildlife observation areas—ideal for a quiet escape or birdwatching as migratory species pass through.

Spring is also a great time to sample local flavors. White County's vineyards and breweries offer opportunities to enjoy locally produced wines and craft beers, making it a season of refreshment and relaxation.

SUMMER: FESTIVALS, LAKES, AND ADVENTURE

Summer brings festivals, water fun, and endless outdoor activities. Lakes Shafer and Freeman are at the heart of summer recreation, offering boating, fishing, swimming, and scenic cruises.

No summer visit is complete without a trip to Monticello's Drive-In Movie Theatre, where you can enjoy the magic of movies under the stars with family or friends. And don't miss the Wolcott Summer Festival, a lively celebration featuring parades, carnival rides, live music, food vendors, and family-friendly fun.

A summer highlight is Indiana Beach Amusement Park, celebrating its 100-year anniversary in 2026. Located along Lake Shafer, the park offers thrilling rides, a water park, and classic arcade games, all set against picturesque lakeside views—perfect for both adventure seekers and families.

LAKE SHORE DRIVE-IN MOVIE THEATRE

FALL: HARVEST AND COLOR

As the leaves turn red, orange, and yellow, White County becomes a picturesque autumn escape. Take a scenic drive along the lakes or through the countryside, dotted with charming farms and barns.

Fall is harvest season, and the county offers pumpkin patches, corn mazes, hayrides, and haunted hayrides for thrill-seekers. Festivals abound, including the Apple Popcorn Festival in Brookston, featuring live music, boutique vendors, and the sights and smells of fall.

WINTER: A STORYBOOK HOLIDAY

Winter transforms White County into a scene straight from a Christmas card or a Hallmark movie set. Snow-dusted streets, twinkling lights, and charming storefronts create a cozy, storybook atmosphere. The Lighted Christmas Parade in Monticello is a seasonal highlight, filling the streets with festive floats, marching bands, and holiday cheer.

It's also the perfect time to explore quaint shops, enjoy cozy cafes, or experience the unique Igloo Dining pods at Whyte Horse Winery, where visitors can savor fine wines and seasonal dishes in a warm, intimate setting with twinkling winter views.

LIGHTED CHRISTMAS PARADE

YEAR-ROUND CHARM

No matter the season, White County offers a wealth of experiences—from vibrant fall colors and peaceful winter landscapes to lively summer festivals and the fresh blooms of spring. Every visit brings opportunities to make lasting memories and enjoy the unique charm and beauty of this Indiana gem.

MUSEUMS AND ATTRACTIONS

The James Dean Museum in Fairmount houses Jimmy's motorcycles, car, the Winslow farm tractor, and a plethora of James Dean's belongings that have never before been displayed. The Quilters Hall of Fame in Marion is a nonprofit organization that celebrates the art of quilting. It documents the lives of those who have made outstanding contributions through exhibitions, education, publications, research, collections, and documentation. The organization is international in scope, encompassing the United States and the United Kingdom.

The Obadiah Jones Cabin is the first log cabin in Jonesboro, purchased by Obadiah Jones in 1834 and is the site of the annual Old Settlers' Day Festival. Visitors can step inside to experience a glimpse of pioneer life. The Marion Public Library houses a large display of artifacts memorabilia from the history of Grant County. Exhibits include a 1952 Crosley Super Sport car, which was produced in Marion. The fascinating history of Jonesboro is on display each weekend at the Jonesboro Historical Society Museum. The museum highlights the town's founding, growth, and local families through artifacts, photographs, and documents. Exhibits also showcase the community's role in early industry, education, and daily life, giving visitors a closer look at the heritage of this Grant County town.

FOOD AND DRINK

From cozy coffee shops & sweet treats to full pub-grub and quick bites, Grant County's dining scene has something for every appetite. Explore local flavor, family favorites, and hidden gems to satisfy your cravings while visiting the area. The Hostess House is a beautifully restored historical house that is on the National Historic Register. Luncheon menu includes a selection of soups, sandwiches, sides, salads, and specialties. Scrumptious desserts include their famous homemade pies, apple dumplings, and a variety of desserts. Visit Peggy's Boutique on the second floor to shop for wonderful and unique gifts.

Gas City Brewing is a locally-owned brewery in the heart of Gas City where visitors can enjoy a rotating selection of beers on tap, including IPAs, stouts, and seasonal specialties, all brewed with care. The welcoming atmosphere makes it a favorite spot to relax with friends or meet new ones over a pint. Bad Dad Brewing is Grant County's first nano-brewery, located in Fairmount, and offering beers on tap including pale ales, browns, blondes, and citrus IPAs. Guests can enjoy a pint, flight, or growler to go, along with appetizers and brick oven pizza made from scratch with fresh toppings.

Ivanhoe's is famous for their menu of more than 100 milkshakes and 100 sundaes. Milk and Honey Coffee Co. is a locally owned coffee shop in Converse, known for roasting its own beans in-house for the freshest flavor. More than just a place to grab a cup, it's a welcoming spot where friends gather.

LODGING

From artist studios and glass blowing demonstrations to glass festivals, museums and classes, to the oldest glassworks in the United States, check out these must-see stops on the Indiana Glass Trail!

Tour Kokomo Opalescent Glass Factory, the oldest art glass company in the United States, operating in its original location since 1888. Go behind-the-scenes to watch as molten glass is hand-ladled from the 2,500-degree furnace and hand-mixed to create stunning sheets of glass. Factory tours are offered Monday – Saturday (call ahead for reservations.) Purchase glass creations in the OP Shop or sign up to take a class. Find glass exhibits at Greentown Glass Museum and the Seiberling Mansion.

The Fort Wayne Museum of Art has opened a new wing for glass sculpture that is one of the finest in the Midwest. The museum's collection of world class glass sculpture numbers over 300, with major works from artists like Harvey Littleton, Martin Blank, Dale Chihuly, and dozens more. Open year-round, with selections changed intermittently.

Muncie has a rich history of glass, starting with the Ball Brothers whose "Ball Canning Jars" became a household name. Minnetrista Museum & Gardens has historical Ball Jars in their heritage collection. Watch glass blowing at the Glick Center for Glass on the campus of

KOKOMO OPALESCENT GLASS

Ball State University and visit Albany Glass Museum which houses pressed glass patterns from 1893-1903 – its collection includes over 800 pieces.

Glassblower Joe Rice is a third-generation art glass blower and continues the rich St. Clair family tradition. Visit The House of Glass in Elwood to find glass paperweights, decorative glass art, collector glass marbles and more. At Carol's Legacy Crystal Art Glass, also in Elwood, find family heirlooms and memorial pieces, home décor and lamps. And don't miss the annual Elwood Glass Festival held in mid-August.

Warsaw Cut Glass Company is one of the last U.S. companies practicing the art of cutting glass with vintage machinery offering distinctive hand-cut crystal gifts. You're sure to find a treasure here – goblets, pitchers, platters, and bowls, just to name a few, all in gleaming hand-cut crystal. Watch glasscutters work their magic (by appointment only), then find that perfect piece to take home.

The Glass Museum in Dunkirk has over 10,000 pieces of glassware from 110 factories around the world. Explore a variety of its artifacts including pieces from the Sistine Chapel and don't miss the pink chandelier that Carole Lombard had in her home! Today, Indiana's highest-profile functional glassmaker is located in Dunkirk, Ardagh Group, supplying glass bottles to some of the world's leading brands.

Richmond is home to a large collection of Louis Comfort Tiffany stained glass windows. The Reid Center boasts 62 Tiffany windows and is thought to be one of only ten churches in the country which have all Tiffany windows. You can also view stunning Tiffany windows displayed at Morrisson Reeves Library.

Carmel Arts & Design District is a premier arts and design destination, home to interior designers, art galleries, antique stores, and a variety of specialty retail shops, such as Indiana Artisan Gifts & Gallery. Visit to find glass artists and the studios displaying their work. They are a few of the many artists featured on the Indiana Glass Trail!

OUTDOOR RECREATION

Looking for a place where everyone in the family can have fun? Brown County State Park, Indiana's largest, spans nearly 16,000 acres of ridges, ravines, and forest—perfect for a day of fresh air and adventure.

Hit the 30 miles of award-winning mountain biking trails, stroll family-friendly hiking paths, or let the horses at the saddle barn do the work. Don't forget to snap photos at the scenic vistas and share them with #BC7VistaChallenge, post all seven and stop by the Visitor Center in downtown Nashville for a special gift!

But that's just the start. Brown County has trails, parks, and activities for everyone: hiking, biking, horseback riding, ziplining, kayaking, paddleboarding, disc golf, paintball, and so much more. There's something for every age and energy level, perfect for a family getaway.

Visit Browncounty.com and download our Outdoor Adventure Guide for more information.

EVENTS & FESTIVALS

No matter the season, Brown County is alive with festivals and events that make any staycation unforgettable. Start the year with the Brown County Ukulele Fest in January, toast spring at the Indiana Wine Fair or the American Bean Jamboree in May and soak up summer music at Bill Monroe's Bluegrass Festival, Happy Hill Fest, the Indiana State Fingerstyle Guitar Festival, and Chamberfest.

Fall brings big favorites like The Brown County Epic in September and the free, self-guided Brown County Studio Tour and Quafftoberfest in October. As winter nears, enjoy the Chocolate Walk in November and the festive Christkindl Market in December. Hard Truth Distillery Co., The Brown County Music Center, & The Brown County Playhouse also hosts events all year long.

From music and art to food and fun, Brown County offers a full calendar of celebrations perfect for every type of traveler. Check out our events calendar to plan your next trip.

ARTS & CULTURE

Brown County has long been known as an artists' colony, a reputation that dates to the early 1900s when painters were drawn to its rolling hills, natural light, and rustic beauty. The Brown County Art Colony, shaped by influential artists like T.C. Steele, became one of the most significant art colonies in the Midwest. That creative spirit continues today through active studios and galleries, including the historic Brown County Art Gallery, celebrating its 100th anniversary, as well as through workshops, classes, and public art that invite visitors to explore their own creativity. With a thriving community of makers, painters, potters, woodworkers, and craftspeople, Brown County continues to embrace and celebrate its rich artistic heritage.

SHOPPING & DINING

Looking for a day that has something for everyone? Brown County is more than a mall or online shopping. Stroll cozy boutiques, explore quirky specialty shops, and hunt for hidden treasures, all while supporting local businesses.

Take breaks along the way: grab coffee, a fresh-baked treat, or visit a winery. Sit down for comfort food and handcrafted drinks or relax together and soak in the small-town charm, fun, welcoming, and unforgettable for the whole family.

ART &amp; HISTORY

Looking for something warm, indoors, and free? Get lost in art and history at the newly reopened Swope Art Museum, home to one of the Midwest's top American art collections and explore softly lit galleries filled with masterpieces. From there, visit the Vigo County Veterans Memorial Museum to see the moving new Vietnam Exhibit, then pop over to the Larry Bird Museum and follow the self-guided Hoops Heritage Tour. These quiet, thought-provoking stops spark the best kind of conversations.

DOWNTOWN STROLLS

Enjoy cozy downtown strolls and boutique treasure hunting. Bundle up for a short evening walk under the downtown lights. Quiet, snowy streets make everything feel magical. Duck into independent boutiques, antique shops, and galleries for unique finds (think vintage records, handmade jewelry, or a quirky piece of local art you'll love forever). Warm your hands around seasonal lattes or spiked hot cocoa at Ladybird Cafe, the Terminal Pub, or Federal Coffee along the way.

HOOSIER COMFORT FOOD

Hunt for Hoosier comfort food and hidden bars across Indiana. The state is famous for its breaded pork tenderloin - crispy, oversized, and downright addictive. Share one (and the legendary Stiffy Green fried pickles) at The Copper Bar while surrounded by Larry Bird memorabilia or go upscale with steaks at J. Ford's Black Angus or traditional handmade pasta at Bar Bosco. After dinner, slip into the Verve's candlelit speakeasy for craft cocktails and live jazz, or warm up with wood-fired pizza and a flight of local brews at Terre Haute Brewing Company. Enjoy craft beer at Afterburner Brewing, or a glass of wine at Sycamore Winery or WaterTower Estates.

NATURE

Snow-dusted nature and riverside serenity await. Take an easy, idyllic walk through the Wabashiki Fish & Wildlife Area or Fairbanks Park near the Wabash River. The trails are peaceful in winter, often lightly dusted with snow, framing the Wabash River with plenty of winter birds to spot. Check out the snow hill at Deming Park, just enough of a workout to earn that second round of drinks downtown, without breaking the relaxed winter vibe.

Your next overnight getaway could be to Indiana's first state capitol, historic Corydon in beautiful Harrison County. Take a historic tour, explore caves, experience the outdoors, enjoy unique shops, sample local wines, and much more.

HISTORY

Established in 1808, the town of Corydon served as Indiana's first state capitol from 1816 to 1825. This history is palpable when you walk the town's storied streets, with most of the buildings dating to the 1800s.

The Corydon Capitol State Historic Site tours include: the original capitol building, governor's headquarters, Porter Law Office and Leora Brown School. Learn more about the area at the Harrison County Discovery Center, where you'll find interactive, immersive displays including a 360-degree projection of a reenactment of the only Civil War battle fought on Indiana soil, the Battle of Corydon Park.

DOWNTOWN CORYDON

Visit Zimmerman Art Glass to see a free glass blowing demonstration and pick up a one-of-a-kind souvenir. The Harrison County Arts feature ceramics, woodworking, and fine art from around the county available for purchase. Enjoy handcrafted coffee from KentJava or stop in Lazy Cow Creamery to indulge your sweet tooth. Need some retail therapy? Shop the downtown square, you'll find something for everyone while visiting the many eclectic local shops.

FOOD & DRINKS

We have something for every appetite. Grab a fork and dig in at one of our local restaurants, 1816 Modern Kitchen & Drinks or Gordon Ramsay Steak at Caesars. You'll find two wineries nestled throughout the lush foothills of Harrison County, Best Vineyards Winery and Distillery and Turtle Run Winery. Each invites visitors for tastings, tours and conversations.

OUTDOOR ADVENTURE

There's more to scenic southern Indiana than meets the eye—below rolling hills, beautiful forests and rich farmland lies a network of caves containing ice age bones, underground streams, and fascinating biodiversity.

Experience it for yourself on tours of Indiana Caverns, Marengo Cave, and Squire Boone Caverns. Tours are guided and the caves are easy to traverse (with steps) so all you need are comfortable shoes and a light jacket. The caves remain around 54 degrees year-round, making them a perfect activity for summer and winter alike.

Squire Boone Caverns Zipline Adventures offers the longest zip in the region. You'll fly through the forest canopy and over beautiful valleys. Choose from tours lasting 1 1/2 hours or 3 hours. The Indiana Caverns Bat Chaser provides a thrilling gravity-powered experience akin to hand-gliding or take in the scenic Blue River with Cave Country Canoes and Old Mill Canoe Rental.

O' Bannon Woods State Park is home to hiking and mountain biking trails. Unique features such as steep hills and deep ravines, limestone bluffs, caves and waterfalls can be found along the trails or within the park, which is bordered on one side by the Ohio River. Explore Indiana's Largest Playground accessible for everyone, Possibility Playground at Hayswood Park. It's filled with fun features that kids of all ages and abilities can enjoy.

RELIVE THE REVOLUTION

As America approaches its 250th anniversary, Vincennes is the ultimate destination to experience history in action. Expect expanded reenactments, new immersive exhibits, and patriotic programming at George Rogers Clark National Historical Park and beyond. This is where George Rogers Clark made his legendary 1779 winter march to seize Fort Sackville, a daring Revolutionary War victory that helped secure the Northwest Territory. Today, you can stand on that very ground and feel the impact of a moment that changed the course of American history. Each Memorial Day weekend, the Spirit of Vincennes Rendezvous transforms the French Commons into Indiana's most dynamic 18th-century encampment. Watch cannons roar, hear fifes and drums echo, and meet costumed interpreters as they bring frontier life to life with musket drills, open-fire cooking, fur trading, and more. Year-round, explore historic Grouseland, home of President William Henry Harrison, walk through immersive exhibits at the Indiana Military Museum, and dive deep into our state's early roots at the Vincennes State Historic Sites.

MUSEUMS AND CULTURE

Downtown Vincennes has many art galleries, museums and cultural sites. Visit Grouseland, the home of President William Henry Harrison, where historically dressed actors lead tours all year long. Across the lawn, you'll discover The Vincennes State Historic Sites including Indiana's first school building, the first print shop in the Northwest Territory, Fort Knox II, the Old French House and more.

Take a laugh break at the Red Skelton Museum of American Comedy and experience innovation, discovery and creative expression. Lastly, stand in awe of the mural and statuary of the George Rogers Clark National Historical Park.

NOSTALGIC ROAD TRIPS

Indiana's historic treasures.

Who doesn't love a road trip? The music on the radio, the snacks in a cooler, the stops at roadside attractions — all recall a time when people vacationed at a more leisurely pace when they got away from the pressures at home and visited places they had never before seen.

For your next getaway, why not lean into that nostalgic state of mind and plan a trip that takes you into the past. We're not talking time travel here, but rather a getaway where you can visit destinations steeped in history. From museums and antique shops, to diners and candy shops, Indiana has plenty of stops for your own nostalgic road trip.

A good place to start is the RV/MH Hall of Fame in Elkhart checks both boxes as you begin your explorations. The evolution of camping trailers from 1920 to the present is on display in the RV Founders Hall.

While you're in the mood to look at older objects, head over to Michigan City to explore Good News Vintage, where you'll find curated home décor for whatever era you like. Pieces available at The Antique Market include hunting, sport, war, and railroad memorabilia; furniture and mirrors; jewelry, pottery, and glassware.

Then it's on to Highland in Lake County and America's Antique Mall, 60,000 square feet that encompass 350 booths and 350 glass cases filled with treasures just waiting for you to find them.

Still haven't had your fill of antique stores? Rochester in Fulton County invites you to check out Green Oaks Antiques for items that range from furniture, dishes, and toys to tools, pottery, and garden ornaments. Also here is the Times Theater, "where memories come alive," which dates to 1924. Now restored, it celebrates movies, live music, and art.

You'll encounter antiques in Lafayette, too, but there are also several other ways to have fun here.

Fort Ouiatenon was established by the French in 1717 as a fur-trading post. A replica blockhouse, built in 1930, is now open and programmed by the Tippecanoe County Historical Association. Come in the autumn for the annual Feast of the Hunters' Moon festival.

The Haan Museum of Art is in a mansion that served as the Connecticut Building at the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair. It was later moved to Lafayette and is known for its outstanding collection of historic Indiana paintings. The historic Long Center for the Performing Arts, built in 1921, has been restored and now presents music, theatrical productions and retro films.

Catch a live show at the restored art deco Lafayette Theater, built in 1938, or tour Samara, a pristine example of Frank Lloyd Wright's Usonian architecture, now a National Historic Landmark.

The Seiberling Mansion in Kokomo is not to be missed. Completed in 1891 for Monroe Seiberling, who came here during the gas boom and built several factories, it is now an elegant museum that is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Muncie's Cammack Station, built in 1931, is a perfect stop on a road trip since it was built to be a gas station. Now it is a restaurant that is filled with memorabilia from its heyday. Order from a retro menu — coney dog or fried bologna sandwich, anyone? — and follow up with one of their ice cream creations.

Another spot for a memorable meal is the bright-yellow Lemon Drop in Anderson. In business since the 1950s, the diner-style eatery serves up onion burgers, tenderloins, french fries, homemade pies, and milkshakes. On your way out the door be sure to pick up some free lemon drops. Another possibility is Gene's Root Beer and Hot Dogs, where they invite you to enjoy those delights along with others on the menu.

Henry County offers a winning mix of history and hoops. Begin your journey at the iconic Hoosier Gym in Knightstown, where the movie "Hoosiers" was filmed, and move on to the Indiana Basketball Hall of Fame and the New Castle Fieldhouse. For a change of pace, catch a live performance at the restored Guyer Opera House.

Grover Center in Shelbyville tells the area's history by way of an exhibit titled "The Streets of Old Shelby," where an interurban train car delivers you to a life-size village that re-creates the saloon, school, stores, and offices that were once here. Another exhibit celebrates trains that in Shelby County date to 1834, and the Charlotte Jones Gallery illuminates how this part of the state changed geologically as well as its agricultural and industrial past.

Step into 19th-century grandeur in Madison, home to the nation's largest downtown National Historic Landmark District, spanning 133 blocks of beautifully preserved architecture. Tour the Lanier Mansion, an 1844 Greek Revival jewel overlooking the river, and the Shrewsbury-Windle House, both famed for their dramatic three-story spiral staircases. Then explore the magical downtown district for gifts and finds you won't see anywhere else.

Anna Rosales-Crone, communications manager at SoIN Tourism which represents Clark and Floyd counties, recalls that Schimpff's Confectionary was the first place her husband took her when she moved to Jeffersonville, and now it is the first place she takes people who come to visit. In the 135 years of its existence, it has remained in the same family, and they still give tours and demonstrate how they make their candies. And you can't get more nostalgic than the Georgetown Drive-in, just west of Jeffersonville, which now offers family-friendly activities as well as double-feature films.

Huber's Orchard and Winery is another favorite, a family-owned farm where you can pick your own fruit and sample the wine.

Jeffersonville is also home to Abbey Road on the River, a festival that celebrates the music of the Beatles, and Recbar, an arcade where you'll also find good food and adult beverages.

Explore the underground wonders of Harrison County, with a lineup of extraordinary destinations: Marengo Cave, a U.S. National Natural Landmark; Squire Boone Caverns with its 73-step spiral staircase and burial site of Squire Boone; and Indiana Caverns for an underground boat ride through Indiana's longest cave system. Interactive exhibits at the Harrison County Discovery Center in Corydon bring the area's history and geology to life.

In French Lick step back in time to luxury at the 1845 French Lick Springs Hotel, a resort known for its relaxing mineral springs. Its sister property, West Baden Springs Hotel, features a stunning 200-foot domed atrium and a pampering spa.

GUEST HOUSE

A CHARMING INN,
WITH CHARMING HOSTS, IN THE HEART OF
HAMILTON COUNTY

story by GLENDA WINDERS

The hospitality that John and Karen Newton exude at their Prairie Guest House in Fishers is matched only by the ingenuity and creativity they exerted in turning a B&B, that was empty for two-and-a-half years, into one of the top-ranked places to stay in the Indianapolis area.

"We like people and we like to hear their stories," John said. "We want them to be comfortable while they are here, like they are at home or at their fun cousin's house."

The couple met when John, an Indianapolis native, was running the Indy Hostel in the city. Karen, who was living north of Chicago in Lake Bluff, was visiting a friend when they attended a house concert at the hostel. John recalls that when he met her, he thought, "I might like her."

They married in 2009 and for the next seven years operated the hostel together. When they discovered an abandoned bed and breakfast property in the Fishers area, it seemed perfect for the next step they wanted to take. "The feeling was it found us," said Karen.

The brick pre-Civil War-era house was built as a home by one of the area's first attorneys, Fabius Finch, in 1852. Two women, who later operated the home as a bed and breakfast, added a second building and made other changes.

"We saw that it had good bones," Karen said, and it had a lot more, too. Through the years, left behind were pieces such as the Regency furniture, light fixtures, and gilt mirrors purchased when the Atkinson Hotel went out of business. Also in the dining room, you'll find the board of directors' table and tearoom chairs from L.S. Ayres department store in downtown Indy.

When the couple arrived, ivy had overgrown the main entrance and crept under the doors and onto the hardwood floors inside. Wind rattled around the windows, and every corner was in need of an overhaul. They resurfaced floors, installed new HVAC and appliances, painted, upgraded plumbing and electricity systems, and replaced doors and windows throughout.

John said his work with the hostel prepared him for what he is doing now.

"I learned how to make people feel comfortable, recruit rockstars, and provide good customer service," he said. Karen gets all the credit for the warm, comfortable vibe and the well-appointed décor. Her management talents help to keep everyone on the same page. She is also an organizing expert with an eye for detail and the ability to create magic on a budget, she knew exactly what to do.

Working with her friend Carol Vernick, Karen used wallpaper to fashion “destination walls” in rooms that lacked interest, using designs that complemented wall coverings already there. She put up an elegant gold paper in the foyer of the guest house to go with the existing stripes and added a dramatic print of flowers and vines to the dining room and staircase in the other. She papered behind a cabinet filled with glassware with a leftover piece to add dimension.

She enlisted Carol’s help to reupholster and bring new life to worn-out pieces. In one room she cut down two tables and upholstered the tops to make benches that sit at the ends of the beds. Chairs and stools throughout are colorful and bright, thanks to her touch. She learned to refinish furniture and did a lot of that, too, although in some cases she decided to leave the pieces’ patina in order to express their history.

She has taken castoffs and turned them into enviable pieces of décor. When a friend’s mother to whom Karen was close passed, the friend offered her the antique bench that graces one bedroom as a memento. In a bedroom with no headboards, two paintings for $10 each that she found at a garage sale now provide that illusion. Doors found in the barn became headboards in other rooms. A baby’s crib transformed into a daybed.

Travelers who stayed with them donated two French Provincial chairs that have become favorites for bridal photos. With the capacity to sleep up to 26 people, they frequently host wedding parties. The honeymoon suite with large garden tub takes up an entire second floor, and high hooks for long dresses and full-length mirrors abound.

Beyond the two houses, what was once a 2.5-car garage now houses a mirrored studio where the light and sparkling decor lends wonderfully to a bridal studio. There are seven nearby wedding venues, so brides often book the studio to relax with celebratory drinks while getting their hair and makeup done. The studio also hosts yoga retreats, birthday parties, celebrations of life, and even small weddings and showers as well. And what to do with the well-seasoned barn with the peeling paint? They hired Aly

Kirkham to create a lively floral mural on the side that visitors see when they turn into the driveway.

One of the Prairie Guest House’s greatest assets is its proximity to what visitors come here to do. They are across the street from Conner Prairie, just 16 miles from downtown Indianapolis, and close to the Ruoff Music Center, the Fishers Event Center, and the Payne and Mencias Palladium in Carmel along with the shopping and dining available there. Golf is always an option since Hamilton County is known as a “Midwest golf mecca.”

The couple and their cat, Fiona, live on the property, so they are available if issues arise, although John makes sure this doesn’t happen. They welcome families with children, and for disabled guests there is an accessible suite on the first floor. The Prairie Guest House offers ten bedrooms, each with private bath, for individual travelers; or groups can rent the entire house.

Besides looking after the property, John is also the chef who rustles up the gourmet breakfasts and healthy alternatives each morning.

“No one knows better how to love and nourish people than John,” Karen said. They look forward to hosting you soon.

Discover Madison County

Madison County offers a perfect blend of small-town charm, natural beauty, and lively community spirit. Nestled in the heart of East Central Indiana, this welcoming county is home to vibrant cities and towns like Anderson, Pendleton, and Elwood—each offering unique experiences for visitors and residents alike. Whether you're exploring scenic waterways, attending a local festival, or savoring a memorable meal, Madison County captures the essence of Hoosier Hospitality.

Outdoor enthusiasts will love spending a day canoeing or kayaking along the White River, which winds gracefully through the county. The river offers peaceful stretches for beginners as well as more adventurous sport for experienced paddlers.

The area comes alive throughout the year with festivals and community celebration. Events like the Pendleton Fall Festival, Anderson's Summer Concert Series, and Elwood's Glass Festival draw crowds from across the region. These gatherings highlight the area's rich heritage, featuring live music, arts and crafts, classic car shows, and hometown food that bring families and friends together.

For those who love a touch of sparkle and artistry, Carol's Legacy Crystal in Elwood is a true gem. This shop continues the town's glassmaking tradition with crystal pieces that reflect both craftsmanship and creativity. Visitors can watch artisans at work and take home treasures that celebrate Elwood's legacy as a glassmaking hub.

Racing fans can feel the adrenaline of speed at Anderson Speedway, a legendary short track known for its high-energy Saturday night races and the prestigious Little 500 Sprint Car event. The Speedway has been entertaining fans for decades.

Food lovers will find plenty to enjoy across the county. In Pendleton, Catello's Italian Art Cuisine serves authentic, handcrafted Italian dishes in an intimate and elegant setting. In Anderson, 1925 PubHouse at Grandview offers a relaxed atmosphere with a creative menu featuring fresh, locally inspired flavors. And in Elwood, The Tin Plate Fine Food & Spirits delights guests with hearty comfort food, and a welcoming hometown feel.

From outdoor adventures and festivals to fine dining and local craftsmanship, Madison County invites you to explore, unwind, and enjoy every moment. visitandersonmadisoncounty.com

Connecting the Past & Present: Podcasting is the future for Wabash County

Podcasts are powerful tools for connecting communities, sharing stories, and inspiring action. The ThriveIN Wabash County Podcast highlights the people, businesses, and initiatives that make Wabash County bold and progressive. Through engaging interviews with local entrepreneurs, civic leaders, and residents, the show gives listeners an insider's view of community life, from thriving local businesses to cultural events and outdoor adventures. More than entertainment, ThriveIN Wabash County encourages engagement, drives awareness for local organizations, and inspires listeners to participate in the life of Wabash County.

Complementing this modern storytelling is The Woodward Chronicles, which preserves Wabash County's rich history through narratives told by Wabash County Historian Emeritus, Ronald Woodward. Each episode explores historical events, personal stories, and cultural milestones, ensuring that future generations can access and appreciate the county's heritage. These stories connect the past to the present, reminding listeners of the experiences and lessons that shaped Wabash County.

Both podcasts are made possible through the generous support of the Lisa Gilman Investment Fund, the Sandra Kunkel Trust, Mark & Amy Ford, PaperWorks Industries, the Community

CLOCKWISE: Hosts Adam Stakeman, Alex Downard, and Christine Flohr.

ThriveIN Wabash County and The Woodward Chronicles create a full-circle storytelling experience—one capturing the county's present accomplishments and opportunities, the other safeguarding its history.

Foundation of Wabash County, the City of Wabash, and Visit Wabash County. Produced in partnership with Destination Wabash County, these shows celebrate the region's vibrancy and legacy.

Together, ThriveIN Wabash County and The Woodward Chronicles create a full-circle storytelling experience—one capturing the county's present accomplishments and opportunities, the other safeguarding its history. By listening, residents and visitors alike can better understand, appreciate, and participate in the life of Wabash County, ensuring that its stories—both past and present—continue to inspire and connect the community.

New Riley Arts Trail in Downtown Greenfield

This past fall, the Riley Arts Trail officially opened to the public, offering a delightful new way to explore downtown Greenfield. This scenic 0.7-mile pathway weaves through the heart of the city, celebrating its rich arts, architecture, and literary heritage. As you stroll along the widened sidewalk, you'll discover beautifully inscribed verses from the beloved Hoosier Poet, James Whitcomb Riley.

Along the trail, charming "story stops" invite you to learn more about Riley, other notable Greenfield artists and writers, the area's unique architecture, and even today's creative community. You'll also find stunning hand-carved limestone blocks created by talented sculptor Cheryl Ann Lorange—true works of art in their own right.

The Riley Arts Trail links to the Pennsy Trail at two points, guiding visitors through some of the most picturesque and inviting corners of Greenfield.

To explore the Riley Arts Trail and discover even more of what Hancock County has to offer, visit visitinhancock.org.

Drive into Indiana's Past EXPLORE SCOTT COUNTY

Scott County invites travelers to explore history through preserved architecture, local museums, and sites that shaped the region's early years. This quiet destination offers accessible, meaningful stops for those who enjoy learning while they travel – many just minutes off the interstate.

Start in downtown Scottsburg at the Courthouse Square Historic District. This compact area includes nearly 50 buildings representing late 19th and early 20th-century architecture. Italianate, Romanesque Revival, and Eastlake styles line the square, providing an authentic example of a traditional county seat. Visit the Scottsburg Depot, constructed in 1872. This restored combination freight and passenger station is among the last of its kind still standing. It marks the county's connection to the rise of railroads and how these lines supported small-town growth.

Just outside of town, the Scott County Heritage Center & Museum is located in the former county poor farm, built in 1892. Inside, exhibits tell the story of early settlers, Civil War veterans, and everyday life on the frontier. Special attention is given to the 1812 Pigeon Roost Massacre, one of the area's most tragic early settlements, offering valuable historical context. A short drive leads to the Pigeon Roost State Historic Site. This memorial preserves the location of the 1812 attack, with a limestone monument and historical signage that detail the events and those who were lost. It is a somber but important reminder of the challenges faced by early settlers. Another worthwhile stop is the Scottsburg Fire Museum. Located within the city's fire station, this museum features vintage firefighting gear, equipment, and photographs. It highlights the development of local emergency services and pays tribute to the community's first responders.

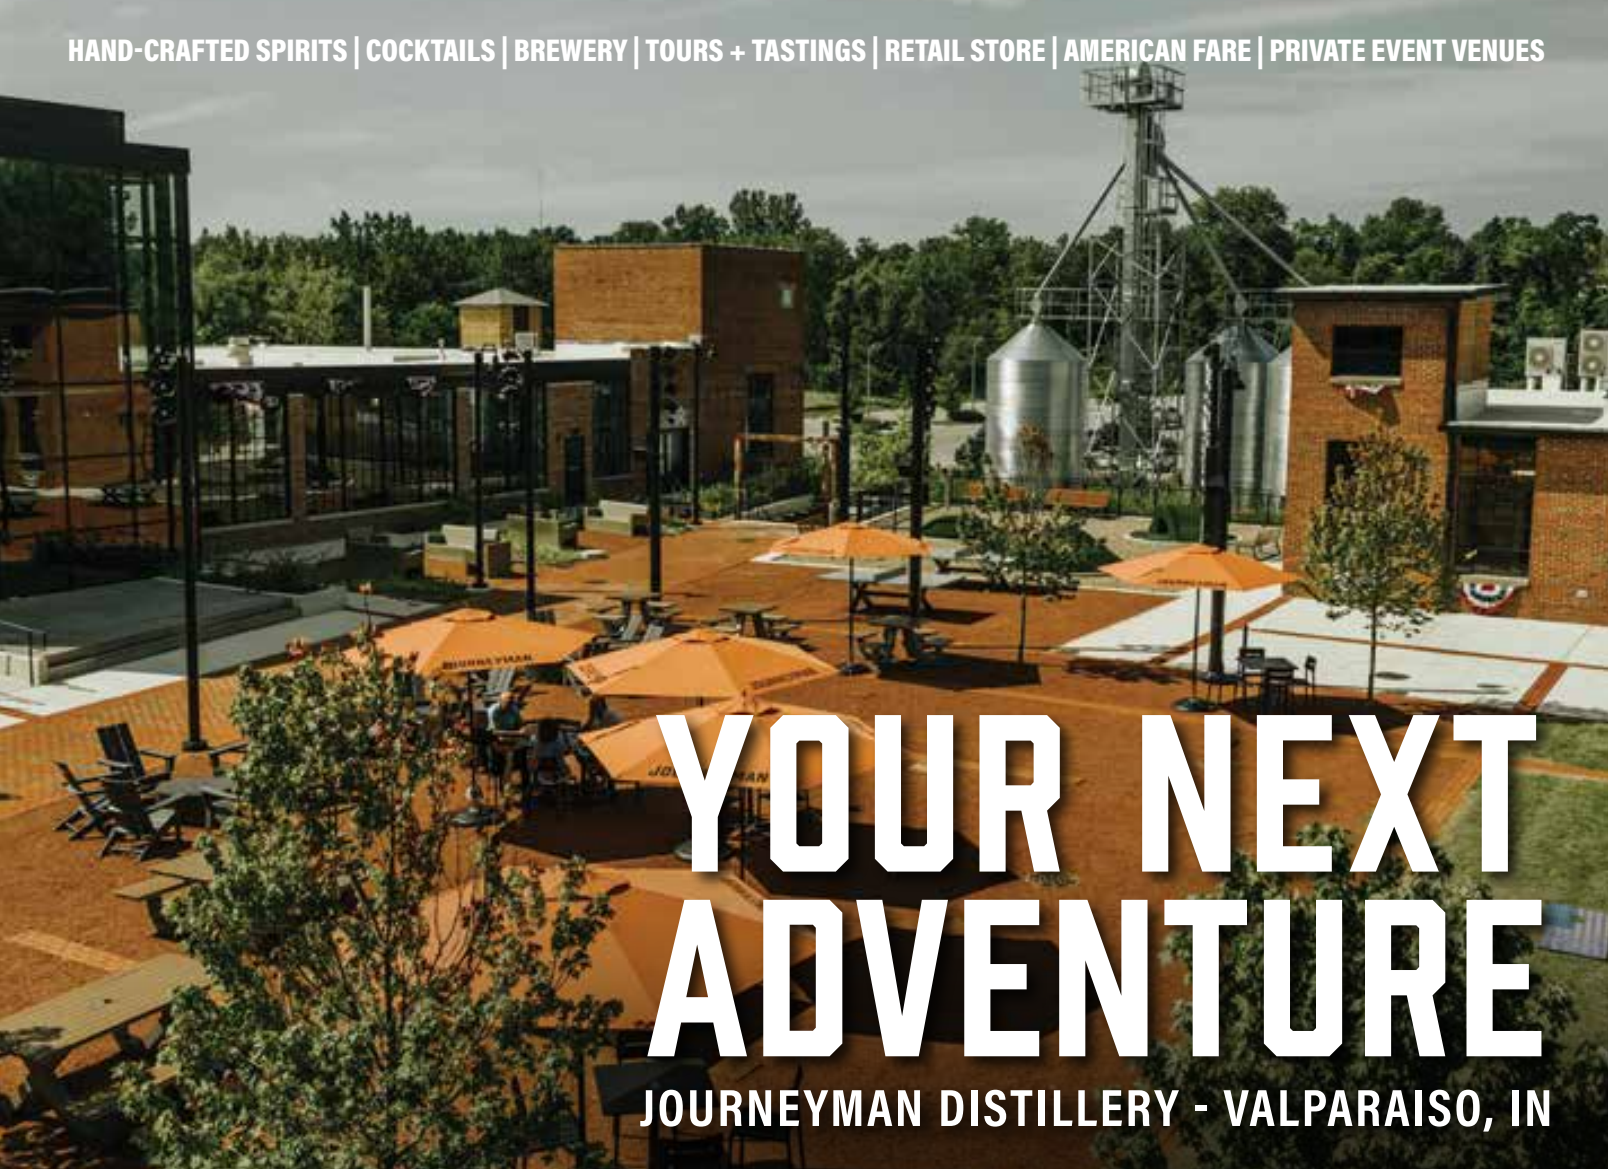

Scott County is also home to one of the highest concentrations of historical markers in the state. A self-guided driving tour map is available through the local tourism office, making it easy for visitors to explore these locations independently. Each stop offers a glimpse into the region's development through preserved structures, personal stories, and public memorials. Visitors will leave with a deeper understanding of rural roots and the people who built these communities. Scott County's attractions are close together and easy to reach, making it ideal for a one- or two-day trip. Whether you are exploring with family, on your own, or with a history group, the experience is educational and rewarding.

Plan your route, follow the markers, and enjoy a road trip that brings the past to life.

The Great Couples Escape

story by TAMMY TILLEY

Spending quality time with your significant other means building memories and enriching your connection. With a little planning and creativity, couples can enjoy an Indiana getaway designed just for them. Whether you're seeking outdoor adventure, food discoveries, creative activities, or peaceful moments together, the Hoosier State has everything you need for a great couples escape.

Fair Oaks Farms offers memorable year-round experiences. The Winter Escape Package includes an overnight stay at the Fairfield Inn by Marriott, two-day adventure passes, and ropes course passes for adventurous couples. The Romance Package adds Prosecco, truffles, and a $50 gift card. Reserve the two-person igloo—an outdoor, private, heated dome—at the Farmhouse Restaurant, available through February 15.

Along the South Shore in northwest Indiana, getaway options include outdoor activities like exploring the Indiana Dunes, cozy stays in private cabins or historic B&Bs, and relaxing experiences such as spa treatments or visiting local wineries. Northwest Indiana's South Shore Arts inspires creativity through painting and ceramics classes, while the Brewery and Winery Trails share flavorful experiences.

Journeyman Distillery at the American Factory and Four Corners Winery, both in Valparaiso, serve up distinctive tasting opportunities. Chocolate lovers will want to mark their calendars for May 2, when downtown Valparaiso presents their Chocolate Walk, a chance to take a walking tour of downtown where you'll stop and collect sweet chocolate

COUPLES GETAWAY IN PARKE COUNTY, INDIANA

coveredbridges.com

Plan a cozy couples escape to Parke County this winter, where sweet maple flavor, small-town charm, and scenic backroads set the tone for a memorable getaway. The Parke County Maple Fair returns February 21–22 and February 28–March 1, 2026, inviting visitors to experience Indiana's maple heritage at its best. Start your morning with the beloved pancake and sausage breakfast at the Parke County 4-H Fairgrounds, topped with pure local maple syrup. After breakfast, browse rows of local crafts, maple treats, and artisan goods before heading out to explore sugar camps across the county.

Watch sap boil into syrup, stroll hand-in-hand through peaceful woods, and enjoy maple-glazed specialties served up by local volunteers and longtime maple producers. With winter's quiet beauty still lingering, even the drive between stops feels romantic.

End your getaway with an evening at the Historic Ritz Theater in Rockville. This vintage small-town theater, full of old-school charm and character, offers movies, performances, and special events in a setting that feels wonderfully nostalgic. Share popcorn, settle into the cozy atmosphere, and enjoy a classic date night experience.

From maple-sweet mornings to charming nights at the Ritz, Parke County offers the perfect couples retreat filled with tradition, flavor, and cozy moments together.

Small-Town Vibes. Big-Time Escape.

story by INDIANA DNR

*Cozy up in rustic cabins, explore hidden trails,
and discover why spring in Brown County feels anything but small.*

The ice has melted. Birds fill the treetops with chatter. And everywhere you look, shades of green reclaim the landscape. This can only mean one thing: Spring has arrived, and with it, the perfect excuse to head outdoors and reconnect with what matters most.

If you're craving a peaceful escape, look no further than Brown County State Park, Indiana's largest and arguably most scenic natural retreat. At the heart of it all is Abe Martin Lodge, your cozy basecamp for adventure, serenity, and small-town charm that feels worlds away yet comfortably close to home.

Whether you're looking for a last-minute winter retreat, a refreshing Spring Break alternative, or a long weekend of local discovery, this is the destination that checks every box.

Located just outside the picturesque town of Nashville, Abe Martin Lodge is surrounded by 16,000 acres of unspoiled wilderness. You'll enjoy the best of both worlds, where rustic charm meets modern comfort the moment you arrive, creating an experience that feels both inviting and unforgettable.

The lodge's wide range of accommodations offers something for everyone, whether you're traveling solo, bringing the kids, or gathering with friends. Choose from traditional lodge rooms, patio rooms, family cabins, cabin suites, or the cozy rustic cabins that feel like stepping back in time, only with modern perks like heat, A/C, and private baths.

From March 1st through May 21st, Abe Martin Lodge's "Spring into Savings" promotion makes an already-affordable getaway even more enticing. Book two or more consecutive nights and get 25 percent off your stay. Even better, every reservation includes complimentary wristbands to the lodge's indoor aquatic center, a huge hit with families, couples, and kids of all ages.

And this isn't just your average hotel pool. The aquatic center features a zero-entry swimming area, waterslide, lazy river, water basketball, volleyball, and hot tub all under a warm roof, no matter the weather outside. Open during summer months, the park features an Olympic-size outdoor pool with on-duty lifeguards, plus a separate wading pool for young children.

From the lodge, you're steps away from a playground of outdoor experiences tailored to your pace. Hike more than 18 miles of trails that wind through hills, ridges, and deep hollows. Some trails are easy loops perfect for a family stroll, while others challenge seasoned hikers with rugged terrain and big payoff views.

Ogle and Strahl lakes offer quiet, scenic spots for fishing. A lake permit is required. At 17 acres, Ogle Lake allows small watercraft like kayaks, canoes, or trolling-motor boats. Strahl Lake, while boat-free, is just as rich in bluegill, bass, and scenic beauty. Just don't forget your fishing license and leave the swimming for the pools.

If you're a horseback rider, you'll find more than 70 miles of bridle paths. Bring your own horse or saddle up at the park's Saddle Barn for guided rides, pony rides for kids, and hayrides on the weekends.

For more classic fun, grab your paddles and head to the new pickleball courts, organize a family soccer match in one of the park's open green spaces, or let the little ones explore the Nature Center's bird-viewing room, live snake exhibit, and interactive displays about Indiana's plants and wildlife.

For those who crave the traditional camping experience, Brown County delivers. With over 400 electric campsites, including accessible options, plus group sites and equestrian camping areas, there's no shortage of space under the stars. Amenities include modern restrooms, shower houses, tie-ups for horses, and even a breweries, and the renowned Brown County Music Center, where national acts share the stage with top-tier performers.

Step into any shop and you're bound to find something unique and someone friendly. It's the kind of place where strangers hold doors and artists share stories behind the work hanging on the walls.

Just beyond town, discover the historic home and studio of Hoosier artist T.C. Steele. Explore the lush grounds and walking trails that once inspired some of Indiana's most iconic landscapes.

Back at the lodge, unwind with a hearty meal at the Little Gem Restaurant. Expect classic comfort foods served in a relaxed setting with warm hospitality. It's the kind of meal that hits just right after a day spent moving, exploring, and soaking in the simple joys of spring.

Finish your evening with a card game or a movie in the upstairs lobby, then retreat to your room or cabin to rest up for another day of discovery.

Spring doesn't last forever, and this peaceful stretch between winter's chill and summer's buzz is pure magic in Brown County. Whether you're planning a family adventure, a romantic retreat, or a solo reset, Abe Martin Lodge offers everything you need, plus the kind of small-town warmth and local flavor that turns a trip into a tradition.

Camp Store stocked with snacks and souvenirs.

After a day of fresh air and forest trails, take a short drive into Nashville, a mecca for arts, crafts, and quirky culture. This tiny town packs a big punch with locally owned boutiques, independent bookstores, art galleries, wine bars,

DISCOVER POKAGON!

Nestled in the northeast corner of Indiana, Pokagon State Park offers a variety of activities for the whole family, including interpretive programs at the nature center. The state's only refrigerated toboggan run operates weekends the day after Thanksgiving through the end of February, with extended weekday hours near Christmas. Enjoy an overnight stay at the lakefront Potawatomi Inn, which features an indoor pool, game room, gift shop and two restaurants. Take a hike on the park's many trails and rent snowshoes to explore the 1,260 acre park.

The Trine State Recreation Area, on the opposite side of I-69 from Pokagon State Park, is nearly 200 acres and features Gention Lake, a 23-acre kettle-hole lake. Boat rentals, licenses and bait are available at the Trine Welcome Center. Only property-owned boats are allowed, which helps regulate traffic density on the water and prevents the unintentional introduction of exotic plants and animals. Fishing is allowed from rental boats and from a public fishing pier with permit. The wooded grounds, scattered wetlands and open meadows offer excellent hiking and nature study opportunities. The 2.5-mile Rolling Oaks multi-use trail is open for hikers and bikers. When there is enough snow, tubing and sledding are available. Trine SRA property and welcome center hours vary seasonally. For more information, call Pokagon State Park at 260-833-2012.

ONE OF INDIANA'S MOST EXCITING CULINARY DESTINATIONS

story by JORDAN SMITH

PHOTOS: Visit Bloomington

Bloomington, Indiana, has always been a city with character — artistic, intellectual, and unexpectedly cosmopolitan for its size. But in recent years, its food and drink scene has blossomed into something even more compelling: a place where global inspiration meets Midwestern roots, where culinary craft is taken seriously, and where independent restaurants thrive in a way rarely seen in similarly sized cities. Today, Bloomington is positioning itself as one of Indiana's most exciting culinary destinations, and its momentum is impossible to overlook.

Part of what elevates Bloomington's food identity is its deep culture of independence. Rather than a landscape packed with chains, the city is filled with longtime, locally owned establishments that have grown into community landmarks. Uptown Café, for instance, has been a Bloomington fixture since 1976 — a restaurant whose Creole- and Cajun-inspired dishes have made it a favorite for generations. Its longevity isn't just a testament to good food; it speaks to a city that values craftsmanship, history, and the kind of hospitality that becomes woven into local life.

That sense of tradition also appears at Mother Bear's Pizza, a Bloomington icon widely regarded as serving some of the best pizza in the state. With accolades like "Best Pizza in Indiana" by USA Today and LoveFood, and mentions in other national publications, Mother Bear's exemplifies the level of care and creativity that Bloomington's restaurants bring to even the most casual cuisine. Its hand-crafted approach mirrors a broader ethos in the city: ingredients matter, process matters, and the final product should never be ordinary.

Craft beverages tell a similar story. Upland Brewing Company, one of the state's most respected breweries, began right in Bloomington in 1998 and helped shape the early wave of Indiana craft beer. Its nationally recognized sour ales — produced in its dedicated Wood Shop facility — demonstrate a level of ambition that has helped put Bloomington on the map for serious beer lovers. And just beyond downtown, Butler Winery & Vineyards anchors the region's wine scene with award-winning vintages made at one of Indiana's oldest family-owned wineries. Their recognition at competitions including the INDY International Wine Competition has helped prove that Indiana-grown wines can be as nuanced and expressive as those from more traditional winemaking regions.

But Bloomington's rise isn't driven only by its legacy establishments. A new wave of creative, socially conscious eateries has injected fresh perspective into the city's food landscape. Hive, known for its elevated comfort food served in a casual setting, has earned praise not only for its menu but for its progressive employment model — earning an "Employer of the Year" award by Developmental Services Inc. (DSI) of LIFEDesigns for its inclusive, equitable workplace practices. It represents a forward-thinking culinary culture where sustainability and fair labor are embraced as part of the dining experience.

Coffee culture thrives here, too.

Hopscotch Coffee & Kitchen has become a beloved community hub, roasting its own beans and earning multiple “Bloomington’s Favorite Coffee Destination” honors in The Herald-Times Best of B-Town Readers’ Poll. Its two locations highlight a truth about Bloomington: the community supports businesses that pour their heart into quality, creativity, and consistency. People return because the experience feels genuine — crafted, not manufactured.

Bloomington’s culinary identity is also shaped by its environment. Surrounded by fertile farmland, the city benefits from close access to growers and producers, allowing restaurants such as Lennie’s — known for handcrafted pizzas and a longtime commitment to local sourcing — to build menus around sustainably grown ingredients. Lennie’s dedication to sustainability and customer care has earned both Green Restaurant recognition and a Spectrum Award, offering yet another example of the city’s elevated standards.

Layered over all of this is Bloomington’s academic and artistic energy. As the home of Indiana University, the city naturally draws people with wide-ranging culinary backgrounds — chefs motivated by creativity, bakers inspired by tradition, and entrepreneurs eager to experiment. That blend of perspectives fuels a food scene that never settles into a single category. Take The Chocolate Moose, for example: a Bloomington staple since 1933, known for its hand-crafted ice cream, rotating seasonal flavors, and its reputation as a long-loved hangout for students, families, and locals alike. In Bloomington, longtime favorites and fresh culinary ideas coexist — and that mix is exactly what keeps the city’s dining culture evolving.

This blend of tradition, innovation, and cultural diversity is ultimately what makes Bloomington stand out. It’s a city where restaurants don’t chase trends — they create their own. Where quality is expected, not exceptional. Where independence is celebrated, and where culinary leaders feel empowered to take risks because their community will rally behind them.

Perhaps that is why Bloomington is quickly becoming Indiana’s culinary hotspot: it has the rare ability to feel both established and evolving. Its classic institutions remain cornerstones, its new arrivals push boundaries, and its diners — students, families, artists, professors, travelers — crave experiences that feel authentic and memorable. There’s an energy here, a sense of place, and a willingness to innovate that together make Bloomington not just a great food town, but a great food town on the rise.

For anyone exploring Indiana’s culinary landscape, Bloomington is no longer just an option. It’s a destination.

Crawford County's Scenic Culinary Getaway

WINDERS

It might be a rural area with a population of just over 10,000, but Crawford County has a whole lot going on. Many of the activities center around Patoka Lake, the 8,800-acre body of water where summertime fun includes boating, water-skiing, swimming, fishing, canoeing, biking, and camping.

But at any time of the year you can enjoy the rugged hills, caves, and eye-popping scenery as you drive on Route 62 along the Ohio River. And one of the best things about visiting Crawford County? Experiencing the locally-owned culinary establishments throughout the area.

A good place to begin is Alcohol Acres, a complex that includes a hotel, distillery with a restaurant, brewery, and winery. Before you start tasting, however, a good idea might be to grab a breakfast or lunch whipped up by Jamie Boaz. He bakes his biscuits fresh each morning, and you won't want to miss his creamy mac 'n' cheese, a savory dish topped with crispy onion bits. Inspired by traditional German recipes, Boaz has been perfecting the recipe over several years.

Under the same roof is the Old Homestead Distilling Co. with a large tasting room where they offer sips of their Sunshine and Black Forest products. The Sunshine line resembles moonshine but is made with sunflower seeds. Flavored varieties include cherry bomb, cinnamon, lemon drop, and root beer. Or maybe try a spirit slushie. Pina colada and green apple cider are favorites.

Jolee Kasprzak, distillery manager, says while they don't yet offer organized tours of the facility, if you ask the tasting room manager, she will give you a sneak peek inside. And if you're really lucky, Alan Bishop, the master distiller will let you in on how he uses local plants and pot stills to re-create what immigrants from Germany did in the 19th century.

Within the same barnlike building are 28 queen and king hotel rooms with contactless check-in that make it a good place to bed down as you explore the libations made on the property.

A short walk across the property leads to the award-winning Patoka Lake Brewery, where D.J. Hanselman is the brewmaster. The tasting room here maintains six or seven of their staple beers — he says Nauti Blonde is a favorite — and rotates some of their other 30 recipes through the seasons to keep things interesting. Cheeses, meats, pretzels and the like are available for snacking, and the Friday night bingo sessions always sell out.

The Patoka Lake Winery produces some 20,000 gallons of red and white wines per year, and their wine slushies remain one of their most in-demand products. They offer up to 22 flavors, which boaters often stock in their coolers for a day on the water.

The winery can provide an event space for up to 220 people, with discounts on hotel rooms for guests. This is connected to two silos where the first floor is often used for smaller gatherings. Upstairs are two-story suites complete with Jacuzzi tubs and fireplaces in the rooms.

When you can bear to leave, several eateries beckon with specialties such as made-from-scratch Amish food at the Schwartz Family Restaurant. Fried chicken, buttered noodles and a slab of blueberry cream pie, anyone?

If it's lighter bites you're after, Bennie's Off the Water is a must for pizza, barbecue, sandwiches and beer. Springtown Pizza at Marengo Cave offers a similar menu, with additional favorites such as strombolis, taco salad and ice cream nachos.

The specialty at the Lucas Oil Golf Course and Restaurant is pork tenderloins, and this is also a good place to get breakfast. Start your day with omelets, pancakes or a sausage-and-egg biscuit. In Milltown there's Out of the Blue Coffee, where their forte is distinctive coffees, cinnamon rolls and breakfast sandwiches. Then linger a while for some of their ice cream.

You can't go to Crawford County and not visit Stephenson's General Store. This nearly impossible-to-describe emporium is a repository for items old and new that range from tools, figurines, cast-iron cookware and stuffed animals (real and toy) to rabbit food, canned armadillo and chain-saw blades. Near a cooler where live bait is stored are a frozen-meat locker, racks filled with shovels and gloves, and a shelf holding deodorant and shampoo. Once you have taken it all in, stop at the soda fountain in the corner for ice cream treats and specialty teas.

Wrap up your visit at the Overlook Restaurant — perfectly named because it is perched on a hillside with a sweeping view of the Ohio River. It has been in business since 1948, and everything here tastes home-cooked and good — burgers, ribs, chicken pot pies, seafood, and the rest. They even have their own pastry chef who makes desserts you won't soon forget.

Beyond that, the vibe here is warm and welcoming.

"People come from other states, and they say they came because their grandmother once brought them here," said owner Kim Belcher. "It's a generational thing, a family place."

Your Table & Our Tradition since 1965

It all began in 1965, when Arni Cohen opened his first restaurant in Lafayette's Market Square Shopping Center. With just over 100 seats, Arni's quickly became a local favorite. Within a decade, it had grown into one of Indiana's largest restaurants, a testament to Arni's vision, energy, and unmatched rapport with people.

His sons, Brad and Kurt Cohen, now carry on the legacy. Brad fondly recalls his father's way with people, calling him a "living legend." Growing up in the restaurant, Brad says, meant always being around friendly faces. "You never met a stranger at Arni's," he remembers.

What made Arni's stand out wasn't just the food, though it was always good and reasonably priced. It was Arni's belief in people and community. He understood that if you serve your neighbors with kindness and respect, they'll keep coming back and bring others with them. That simple philosophy helped turn a single Lafayette restaurant into a statewide tradition.

Today, Arni's spans 17 Indiana locations, and the heart behind the brand remains unchanged. Kurt reflects on the lessons his father taught through example: compassion, integrity, and the importance of giving back. "We're proud of the reputation Arni's has built in every town we serve," he says.

For more than five decades, Arni's has welcomed guests with fresh food and friendly service. Whether you're a longtime regular or a first-time visitor, the experience is always memorable. It's where Hoosiers gather for casual meals, celebrations, and the legendary thin crust pizza that keeps fans coming back.

Can't make it to a location? No problem. Arni's will ship their beloved pizza straight to your doorstep. Visit MeetYouAtArnis.com to bring the tradition home.

With locations in Lafayette, West Lafayette, Indianapolis, Greenwood, Brownsburg, Monticello, Rossville, Lebanon, Frankfort, Crawfordsville, Rensselaer, Pine Village, and New Albany, there's always an Arni's nearby. Plus, with its own supply chain through Linarco Distributing, Arni's ensures every meal is made with consistent quality, just the way Arni would have wanted it.

Harry Stuff Brewing is a family-owned brewery on Southfork Farms in Noble County, adjacent to Mallard Roost Wetland Conservation Area. It features beers to go, smoothies, delicious starters, flatbreads, brick-fired pizzas, Colombian empanadas, gluten-free options, weekend Latin specials, and weekly desserts by Gabriela's European Desserts in Ligonier. The beer consists of natural ingredients only. Water from the farm, yeast, hops, and barley comprise the bulk of our ingredients, including natural fruits, coffee beans, cacao, and vanilla beans. Harry Stuff's philosophy is that you should be able to trust your beer!

Minnetrissa's Explorer Bags Make Learning Fun

Adventure is out there! Gather with your family and friends at Minnetrista to discover adventure around every corner with an Explorer Bag. Full of interactive objects and hands-on activities, Explorer Bags will take you on exciting explorations all over campus. All you have to do is check one out.

Nature Adventure Bag

Calling all outdoor explorers, wilderness wanderers, and budding biologists. Minnetrista may be in the heart of Muncie, but many wild creatures – big and small – have been spotted here, especially in our Nature Area. In this portion of our campus, you can find all three of Indiana's main habitats – the grassland (or prairie), the wetlands, and the woodlands – along with the critters that call these places home. This explorer bag is stocked with a variety of gear and activity ideas designed to help you discover the natural world. Try out as many or as few activities as you'd like, in any order – you're the leader of this nature hike. As you explore our campus, we hope you're inspired and empowered to enjoy the outdoors every day, whether you're on our grounds, at your local park, or in your own backyard.

Artist Within Me Bag

Minnetrissa is home to many works of art across our 40-acre campus, from the Catalyst sculpture standing outside our Center Building to the paintings hanging inside the Bob Ross Experience. Art – and artists – come in many shapes, sizes, and colors. This explorer bag has a variety of art supplies and ideas for you to experiment with. Try as many or as few as you'd like, in any order – as our friend Bob Ross would say, this is YOUR world! Bob also believed that "there's an artist hidden at the bottom of every single one of us." As you explore our campus and experiment with the art supplies in this explorer bag, we hope you discover the artist hidden within you.

Explorer bags are available year-round during exhibition hours. They're free for members and only $5 for non-members.

INDIANA GLASS TRAIL

MELT INTO INDIANA GLASS CULTURE

Artists and craftsmen have created work for more than a century to establish Indiana as home to remarkable, functional, and decorative glass. Connecting a trail of 8 counties, the Indiana Glass Trail links today's artists and glass-related venues throughout East Central Indiana, bringing together the tradition and beauty of glass art so you can experience it first-hand. From artist studios and blown glass demonstrations, to glass-focused festivals and glass museums and classes, to the oldest glassworks in the U.S., this family-friendly trail highlights it all. Glass lovers have plenty to see and do in Indiana, and the trail brings it all together!

INDIANA ARTISAN MARKETPLACE

Sip, Shop, Savor Indiana's Best

Make plans to attend the event where creative craftsmanship and community come together. It's happening at the 14th annual Indiana Artisan Marketplace, March 28–29 at the Indiana State Fairgrounds in Indianapolis. You'll discover art and fine craft as you sample and enjoy food and beverage — all made in Indiana, and all designated the best of Hoosier craftsmanship.

This is the show that opens Indiana's wonderful art fair season. The Marketplace is the place to find everything from hand-smithed jewelry to handmade chocolates, fine watercolors to striking wood art, and functional pottery to exceptional wines. It is the destination to find something for your good taste or something that tastes good. This year's show will celebrate our nation's 250th birthday with specially-made Americana-inspired creations.

The Indiana Artisan Marketplace provides an opportunity to buy one-of-a-kind artwork and artisan foods directly from the Hoosiers who make it. Nearly 100 creatives from all regions of Indiana will meet shoppers from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday, March 28 and 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Sunday, March 29. All will talk about how their work is crafted, and many will demonstrate their creative process. Food and beverage artisans will offer samples.

The second edition of "100 Things to Do in Indianapolis Before You Die" by Ashley Petry lists the Marketplace as a must-do event, calling it the place to buy "unique artwork, pretty paper goods, eye-catching jewelry, crave-worthy food products, and the state's spirits and wines. ... Come prepared to splurge on a one-of-a-kind piece that you'll treasure for a lifetime."

The Marketplace is in the Agriculture Horticulture Building at the State Fairgrounds, 1202 E. 38th Street. Show admission is $10 per person, 14 and younger are free. The Fairgrounds charges $10 for parking.

Work that carries the Indiana Artisan seal has gone through a rigorous evaluation process. It is the state's moniker for identifying and recognizing the best of Hoosier craftsmanship. More than 230 artisans creating in 58 counties currently have art, food, or beverages that have met the high standards. Each is an entrepreneur; many hail from some of the state's smallest communities. It isn't often that many of them come together in one location.

The highly respected Indiana Artisan brand includes painters, potters, woodworkers, bakers, snack makers, weavers, glass artists, photographers, wineries, distilleries, paper and mixed media artists, leatherworkers, and more. Find more information about the Marketplace, a list of participating exhibitors, and links to buy tickets or volunteer, visit indianaartisan.org/spring-marketplace/

A STAR-SPANGLED SHOWCASE OF HOOSIER CRAFTSMANSHIP

The Indiana Artisan Marketplace brings together nearly 100 artisans from across the state, showcasing original art, fine craft, small-batch foods, and locally made wine and spirits — where creativity, craftsmanship, and community come together. Enjoy live demonstrations, delicious samples, and Americana-inspired creations celebrating the nation's 250th birthday. Cast your vote for a favorite in the People's Choice Award!
